

Membership

The NPPTAC, with balanced representation from industry, non-governmental organizations, States and Tribes, academia and other institutions, will provide advice and recommendations on critical issues across OPPT's chemicals management and pollution prevention programs. The NPPTAC members bring their expertise in toxicology, risk assessment, risk management, risk communication and pollution prevention, as well as environmental policy, public health policy and environmental perspectives in State, national and international arenas.

James Cooper

Manager, Government Relations
Synthetic Organic Chemical Manufacturers
Association

Penelope A. Fenner-Crisp

Executive Director (Retired)
Risk Science Institute, International Life
Sciences Institute

Bill Greggs

Associate Director, Procter & Gamble
Corporate Sustainability

Harry Gregori, Jr. (Chair)

Vice President
Environmental Solutions, Incorporated

Susan Hearn

Environmental and Health Sciences
Opportunity Leader
Dow Chemical Company

Lynda Knobloch

Toxicologist
Wisconsin Department of Health and Family
Services
Bureau of Environmental Health

Leah Ann Lamb

Director, Office of Planning and Public Affairs
Utah Department of Environmental Quality

Jessine Monaghan

Manager and Counsel, Regulatory Programs
Legal Department
GE Advanced Materials

Thomas Neltner

Director of Training and Education
National Center for Healthy Housing

Steven Russell

Assistant General Counsel
American Chemistry Council

Lorraine Twerdok

Health Sciences Manager
American Petroleum Institute

Laura Weber

Director of Solid Waste Management
St. Regis Mohawk Tribe