Selected Smart Growth Publications

From the Smart Growth Network

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is publishing this information in an effort to increase public understanding of how Smart Growth can further efforts to protect our environment. The Agency has selected the publications listed here on that basis. However, EPA does not necessarily endorse the views expressed in any particular publication and does not promote the purchase of any organization's publications. You are urged to contact vendors who charge a fee prior to ordering these publications.

If you or your organization want EPA to consider listing additional Smart Growth publications in the next edition of "Selected Smart Growth Publications," please contact Tim Torma at 202 566-2864.
