Universal Wastes: Universally Confusing

A Workshop for Federal Facilities

July 27, 2005
10 am to 12 pm
(9:30 am to 10 am registration)
290 Broadway, 27th Floor, Room D

Universal Wastes: Universally Confusing

Recent inspections by EPA Region 2 have revealed that most Federal facilities are not properly managing their universal wastes. Therefore, EPA Region 2's Federal Facilities Program and the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (NYSDEC) have joined together to host this FREE 2-hour review of the current universal waste requirements in New York State. We will also discuss proposed changes being considered by NYSDEC regarding green-tipped fluorescent light bulbs and unused commercial chemical products. In addition, there will be an update of the proposed changes to the federal universal waste requirements regarding mercury-containing equipment and computers.

This FREE workshop will be held on July 27, 2005 at EPA Region 2's Office at 290 Broadway in New York City. The room number is 27D.
