316(a) Thermal (Temperature) Variances

Thermal wastewater discharges in North Carolina are subject to effluent limitations under North Carolina Administrative Code Section: 15A NCAC 02B .0211 (3) (j). This rule limits thermal discharges to 2.8 degrees C (5.04 degrees F) above the natural water temperature and includes further restrictions based on geographic regions of the state. Exceptions to these limits are allowed under the temperature variance provisions of the federal Water Pollution Control Act, commonly known as the Clean Water Act, under Section 316(a). Under this provision of the Clean Water Act, permittees must demonstrate that the variance for the thermal component of the discharge assures the protection and propagation of a balanced, indigenous population of shellfish, fish and wildlife in the receiving water.

The permit holders listed below have requested continuance of the Clean Water Act 316(a)- temperature variances, which allow for site by site limitations based upon studies conducted by the Permittee and submitted to NC Division of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR). The Division of Water Quality has determined that these studies submitted by the permittees comply with Section 316(a) of the Clean Water Act. On the basis of North Carolina Administrative Code Section: 15A 02B .0208 (b), and other appropriate lawful standards and regulations, the North Carolina Division of Water Quality proposes to continue the 316(a) variance in conjunction with the renewal of the following National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permits:
