

Subpart W Stakeholders Conference Call
April 2, 2015

ATTENDEES

EPA: Reid Rosnick, Dan Schultheisz, (ORIA), Susan Stahle, (OGC)

Industry: Jim Cain, Cotter; Kim Morrison, Energy Fuels

UPDATE

Reid began the call with a welcome and by taking attendance. Reid had a couple of items to share.

The process going on right now is to continue reviewing all of the comments, grouping together comments that make a similar point, determining which comments can be addressed immediately and which comments may take longer to address. We are also working to determine which comments will be addressed by our contractor, as they for instance specifically worked on the risk assessment and economic impact analysis. The workgroup met in early February. There have been several retirements and reassignments since our last meeting, and we are now asking the relevant program offices for replacement workgroup members. It may take some time to bring them up to speed, but it currently does not look like it would affect our timeline. We discussed the approach for producing and reviewing a response to comments document as well as how to revise the same type of internal document that we produced for the proposal, namely the analytic blueprint. This document will chart the path we will take with the end result being a final rule. The process is very similar to the one we used to produce the proposed rule. (Analytic Blueprint, Early Guidance, researching, responding to comments, writing the rule, Final Agency Review, OMB review, Administrators signature).

DISCUSSION

Kim asked about whether EPA had receive a supplemental document from Energy Fuels. Reid stated that we did not. Kim stated that it should arrive soon.
