

Permit Issuance Record
WA0025569

No comments were received during the 30 day public comment period for WA0025569, a permit proposed to be issued to the Paradise Wastewater Treatment Plant located on the Nisqually River in Mount Rainer National Park, Washington. Because no comments were received, the permit could become effective on the issuance date but EPA has chosen February 1, 2017, for the effective date.

EPA corrected typographical errors in the Table of Contents, Schedule of Submissions, and Permit Part II.C. Table 1 of the Permit was reformatted to clarify the reporting requirements.

The Fact Sheet explained that monitoring data required by the permit be submitted through NetDMR beginning with the submission of the November 2016 DMR. Since the permit went into effect after that date, EPA removed the language in Permit Part III.B. pertaining to the submission of hard copy DMRs.

The Washington Department of Ecology sent a letter to EPA, dated November 16, 2016, containing their CWA § 401 Certification of the permit.
