

Green Power Supply Options Screening Tool

Likelihood Result	Explanation of Likelihood
Yes	Indicates that the green power option is almost certainly available to an organization given its organizational characteristics and status of regulations and incentives.
Very Likely	Indicates that the green power option is very likely to be available to an organization given its organizational characteristics and status of regulations and incentives.
Possibly	Indicates that the green power option is possibly available to an organization given its organizational characteristics and status of regulations and incentives.
Unlikely	Indicates that the green power option is unlikely to be available to an organization given its organizational characteristics and status of regulations and incentives.
No	Indicates that the green power option is almost certainly not available to an organization given its organizational characteristics and status of regulations and incentives.
Potentially in the Future	Indicates that the green power option will likely be available to an organization sometime in the future given announced changes to regulations or incentives.