BACKGROUND

Zia Pueblo sits atop a mesa overlooking the Jemez River forty-five miles west-southwest of Santa Fe and 17 miles east of Bernalillo, New Mexico. It is one of the seven Pueblo Indian communities in New Mexico in which the ancient Keres language is spoken. The people of Zia believe that their ancestors left the Mesa Verde region and founded Zia about eight hundred years ago. In the 1500s, the Spanish explored New Mexico and claimed the province for Spain. They called the Pueblo and the surrounding communities “Los Pumames,” or “People of the West.”

The Spanish established churches among the Pueblos, including Zia, and attempted to eliminate the traditional religious practices of the Pueblo. This included the Pueblo undergoing intensive labor and paying tribute to them. In 1680, the Pueblo Indians rebelled and forced the Spanish to flee. Zia fared especially badly as the Spanish later regained control. In 1688, Spanish soldiers destroyed Zia and killed 600 residents, and took 70 others to El Paso. They were held captive for ten years, when Don Diego de Vargas successfully reconquered the Pueblos in 1692, he found the Pueblo deserted but learned that survivors were living as refugees at other pueblos. He negotiated a peace settlement that brought the people back to Zia.

In the late 1500s, the population was estimated to be 5,000 but by the 1690s it had shrunk to 300. Due to smallpox epidemics and other causes the population declined further, and by the 1890s only about 100 people remained. Today, Zia is home to 910 people.

Today, the Pueblo still uses its traditional style of selecting its leadership for both the sacred and secular. The Governor and Lt. Governor are the appointed executive officials who oversee all departments of the Pueblo Government. They include the Department of Environment, Tribal Development, Education and Administrative Services to name a few. Each department employs a director and several staff working under the direct supervision of the Director of Operations who takes direction from the Governors.

The Pueblo Council is comprised of any male over the age of 18. They meet frequently to review and pass an operational budget, and enact resolutions and laws to help keep order for the Pueblo. This is all done in keeping with the traditions and customs of the Pueblo.

The Pueblo calls over 172,000 acres of land home. The land ranges from the Pueblo proper sitting above the Jemez River to the canyon walls of Borrego Pass to the north. There are a few dry plateaus, but the land still grows plenty of vegetation for ranching and other livestock. Additionally, there are hot springs to the northwest and a gypsum mine that helps provide revenue to the Pueblo. In all, the land is known for its beauty as witnessed by the several film productions choosing Zia Pueblo. Like many other Pueblos, Zia Pueblo is known for its artisans. The arts range from the traditional pottery to canvas paintings of both a traditional and modern aesthetic. The Pueblo continues to grow in numbers and acreage and looks forward to expanding its operations for monitoring its people and the land.

The Pueblo of Zia Environmental Department assumes primary responsibility for managing all Clean Water Act and Clean Air Act programs. The Pueblo of Zia Environmental Department has grant management experience in the Indian General Assistant Program (GAP) grant, Clean Water Act Section 106 and Clean Air Act Section 103 grants. Capacity will be built to reflect the competency needed to run and manage future environmental programs. The Pueblo is applying for treatment in a manner similar to a state in order to implement an Air Pollution Planning and Control program. This program will help the Pueblo begin to inventory and monitor the Air Quality across the Pueblo.

Statement of Counsel

March 20, 2018

Regional Administrator
U.S. EPA Region 6
1445 Ross Avenue (6RA)
Dallas, TX 75202-2733

Dear Regional Administrator,

This letter outlines and describes the legal basis for Regulatory Authority of the Pueblo of Zia of Air Quality on tribal lands within its Trust Land. The purpose of this letter is to support the Pueblo of Zia's application for Treatment in a Similar Manner of a State for Clean Air Act Section 105 and to describe its authority to establish and maintain an Air Pollution Planning and Control quality program and eventually establish and maintain air quality standards as required by Section 301 (d) of the Clean Air also known as the Tribal Authority Rule and codified in Title 42 Section 7601 (d) of the Code of Federal Regulations. In order to maintain and attain Ambient Air Quality Standards as described in 40 CFR 50.

The Pueblo of Zia is recognized by the Secretary of the Interior, Federal Register Vol. 81 No. 86/ Wednesday, May 4, 2016/Notices, located in New Mexico and is so recognized by the Secretary of the Interior. The Supreme Court, recognizes that tribes retain "attributes of sovereignty over both their members and their territory. . ." United State v. Mazurie, 419 U. 544, 577 (1975).

As a result of this inherent regulatory authority the Pueblo of Zia is in the continual process of developing and implementing tribal programs to protect the health and welfare of its members. This health and welfare extends not only to physical health and welfare but also environmental health and welfare. An example of the Pueblo of Zia's commitment to the health and welfare of its members is that the Pueblo has chosen to enact New Mexico State Laws on its lands while Pueblo specific laws are being developed. The Pueblo is working towards anonymity in all aspects from its Laws to the governing and enforcement of environmental compliance in the future.

Of utmost importance to this application is the establishment of the Pueblo of Zia Department of Environmental Resources (DER). The Department of Environmental Resources' main focus is the assessment and preservation of the Pueblo's resources through the building of technical and monetary capacity, in accordance with the needs and concerns of Pueblo members. The Pueblo has determined the need to assess and monitor the nature and quality of their Airshed and identify any sources of pollution to these resources to ensure the protection and, if necessary, restoration of this Airshed.

Due to these factors, the Pueblo of Zia DER will be focusing on a Tribal Implementation Plan (TIP). This TIP will address the quantification of the Pueblo's Emissions through data collection and analysis; outline the air quality issues on the Pueblo from point and non-point source perspectives; identify restoration or mitigation actions that can be taken to combat any air quality issues by way of advanced Air Quality Technologies; and determine opportunities for collaboration with other tribes, federal and state governments effected by a Tribal Implementation Plan for quality protection and enhancement. This plan will be used for future collection of data as well as to provide direction for a comprehensive Air Pollution Planning and Control Program. This model will be used to make informed community development and public health decisions while pursuing the protection of the Airshed.

The TIP will ascertain the current air quality on Zia Pueblo. The long term goal is to plan on a pristine Airshed goal with the cooperation of other stakeholders in the area. To begin with however, it is imperative that the Pueblo of Zia has a complete view of the state of the air on and around its lands. The tribe recognizes the need to protect Pueblo values and protection of its Environmental Resources. The main purpose in identifying and monitoring the Pueblo's Natural and Environmental Resources in general and the state of the air quality specifically includes the protection of these resources from exploitation and degradation.

The implementation of an Air Pollution Planning and Control program and a Tribal Implementation Plan shows the dedication of the Pueblo of Zia to preserve and conserve it's natural and environmental resources. This dedication encompasses the intent of NEPA and the Federal Government to extend the duty of environmental protection to the tribes and pueblos through their inherent regulatory authority. Federal courts have recognized that Indian tribes maintain their sovereignty. Only an express act of Congress can limit a tribe's sovereign authority and jurisdiction. (U.S. v. Wheeler, 435 U.S. 313 (1978); Oliphant v. Suquamish Indian Tribe 435 U.S. 191 (1978); Santa Clara Pueblo v. Martinez, 436 U.S. 49 (1978)). Due to fundamental Pueblo interest implicated by the need to regulate it's Air Quality use and conservation on the Pueblo's land, the Pueblo of Zia does indeed have jurisdiction to regulate air quality on its lands.

The jurisdiction over Air Quality is in line with the broad language of the Clean Air Act Section 301(d) which recognizes tribal primacy to carry out "the functions to be exercised by the Indian tribe pertain to the management and protection of air resources within the exterior boundaries of the reservation or other areas within the tribe's jurisdiction". Section 301 (d) of the Clean Air Act recognizes the tribes inherent authority: "the Indian tribe is reasonably expected to be capable, in the judgment of the Administrator, of carrying out the functions to be exercised in a manner consistent with the terms and purposes of this chapter and all applicable regulations" 42 Federal Regulation 7601; 40 CFR Parts 50. There are no limitations or impediments to the Tribe's authority or ability to effectuate the delegation of authority from Congress as described in this application.

The Pueblo has inherent powers of self-government and pursuant to its tribal sovereignty and has the powers to legislate and enforce tribal laws to control the conduct and activities within its tribal lands. The Pueblo recently adopted the State of New Mexico Criminal Code to fill the criminal law void while the Pueblo develops its own criminal code. (See Resolution 15-11 Temporarily adopt State of New Mexico Laws) The Pueblo possesses the legal authority to "regulate, manage, and control its resources. . ." (See Resolution 15-13 contract between Pueblo and Bureau of Reclamation). More specifically, the Governor has the legal authority to execute documents necessary and appropriate for the promulgation of resolutions regarding all affairs of the Pueblo, including environmental programs within the exterior boundaries of the reservation. (See Resolution 15-03 Recognizing Pueblo of Zia Governor as having signatory authority to enter into agreements on behalf of the Pueblo).

The Pueblo exercises its regulatory, legislative, executive, and judicial powers through a centuries-old organic form of government. The Pueblo has not adopted a constitutional form of government but has a Tribal Council which provides legislative action. As the legislative body of the Pueblo the Tribal Council, develops Tribal policy and is the legislative decision-maker for the Pueblo of Zia Government. Day-to-day governmental affairs are managed by the Governor and Lieutenant Governor, who are traditionally appointed in. The Governors' duties include managing the economic, political, and administrative policy and exercising police powers. A Director of Operations, who reports to the Governor and Lieutenant Governor, assists and supports the governor and department managers in developing and executing administrative policy, implements program management decisions, develops reporting procedures, and assists in determining and accounting for personnel and real property.

The Department of Environmental Resources (DER) was formed in 2015 and is responsible for managing and/or monitoring environmental conditions and environmental impacts that affect the reservation. Its authority includes the ability to create, implement, monitor and manage and otherwise oversee all programs that may directly affect the environment of the reservation, including water resources. In addition, the DER will continue to manage and oversee federal and state grant programs that affect the environment of the reservation, including any CWA 106 funding provided to the Pueblo. DER authority have been recognized through the Tribal Council by Resolution No. 15-30, adopting the BIA Integrated Resources Management Plan, which places DER responsible for a multitude of environmental areas.

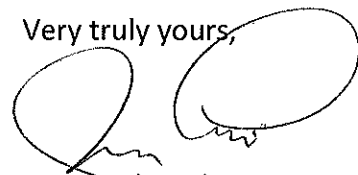

In summary, I certify that I am the principal legal officer for the Pueblo of Zia. I have served as general counsel for several tribes over a period of forty years. I have been with the Pueblo of Zia since 2015. Prior to this date, I had served as a tribal Judge for two tribal governments in New Mexico. Based upon the foregoing, I am of the opinion that:

1. The Pueblo of Zia is a federally recognized Indian Tribe with full authority and legal capability to enter into agreements with outside entities.

2. The Pueblo of Zia is not organized under a constitution, but under a traditional form of government.
3. The governor and Lt. Governor exercise executive authority to run the Pueblo government and handle all the business affairs of the Pueblo.
4. The Tribal Council serves as the legislative body for the Pueblo and has the power to approve all actions of the Governor on behalf of the members of the Pueblo.
5. To clarify the authority of the Governor, the Tribal Council in March of 2014, through resolution number 15-03, formally recognized the signatory power of the Governor to bind the Pueblo in any and all agreements.
6. This authority therefore gives the Pueblo of Zia the right and competency to administer an Air Pollution Planning and Control Program pertaining to the Pueblo of Zia in keeping with Environmental Protection Agency Clean Air Act Section 105.

I am a member of the bar of the State of New Mexico and express no opinion as to matters governed by any laws other than the laws of the Pueblo of Zia and the federal laws of the United States of America, and my opinion is limited to the facts and laws in existence on the date of this opinion.

Very truly yours,

Indian Entities Recognized and Eligible To Receive Services From the United States Bureau of Indian Affairs

AGENCY: Bureau of Indian Affairs, Interior.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: This notice publishes the current list of 567 Tribal entities recognized and eligible for funding and services from the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) by virtue of their status as Indian Tribes. The list is updated from the notice published on January 29, 2016 (81 FR 5019).

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ms. Laurel Iron Cloud, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Division of Tribal Government Services, Mail Stop 4513-MIB, 1849 C Street NW., Washington, DC 20240. Telephone number: (202) 513-7641.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This notice is published pursuant to Section 104 of the Act of November 2, 1994 (Pub. L. 103-454; 108 Stat. 4791, 4792), and in exercise of authority delegated to the Assistant Secretary—Indian Affairs under 25 U.S.C. 2 and 9 and 209 DM 8.

Published below is an updated list of federally acknowledged Indian Tribes in the contiguous 48 states and Alaska, to reflect the addition of an Indian Tribe and various name changes and corrections.

The addition to the list of Indian entities results from the January 28, 2016, Interior Board of Indian Appeals dismissal of a request for reconsideration in docket number 16-003, In Re Federal Acknowledgment of the Pamunkey Indian Tribe.

To aid in identifying Tribal name changes and corrections, the Tribe's previously listed or former name is included in parentheses after the correct current Tribal name. We will continue to list the Tribe's former or previously listed name for several years before dropping the former or previously listed name from the list.

The listed Indian entities are acknowledged to have the immunities and privileges available to federally recognized Indian Tribes by virtue of their government-to-government relationship with the United States as well as the responsibilities, powers, limitations, and obligations of such Tribes. We have continued the practice of listing the Alaska Native entities separately solely for the purpose of facilitating identification of them and reference to them given the large number of complex Native names.

Dated: April 25, 2016.

Lawrence S. Roberts,
Acting Assistant Secretary—Indian Affairs.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE COMMISSION

[Investigation Nos. 701-TA-531-532 and 731-TA-1270-1273 (Final)]

Polyethylene Terephthalate Resin From Canada, China, India, and Oman

Determinations

On the basis of the record¹ developed in the subject investigations, the United States International Trade Commission ("Commission") determines, pursuant to the Tariff Act of 1930 ("the Act"), that an industry in the United States is materially injured by reason of imports of polyethylene terephthalate ("PET") resin, provided for in subheading 3907.60.00 of the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States, that have been found by the Department of Commerce ("Commerce") to be sold in the United States at less than fair value ("LTFV") with respect to Canada, China, India, and Oman and have been found by Commerce to be subsidized by the governments of China and India.²

Background

The Commission, pursuant to sections 705(b) and 735(b) of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1671d(b) and 19 U.S.C. 1673d(b)), instituted these investigations effective March 10, 2015,

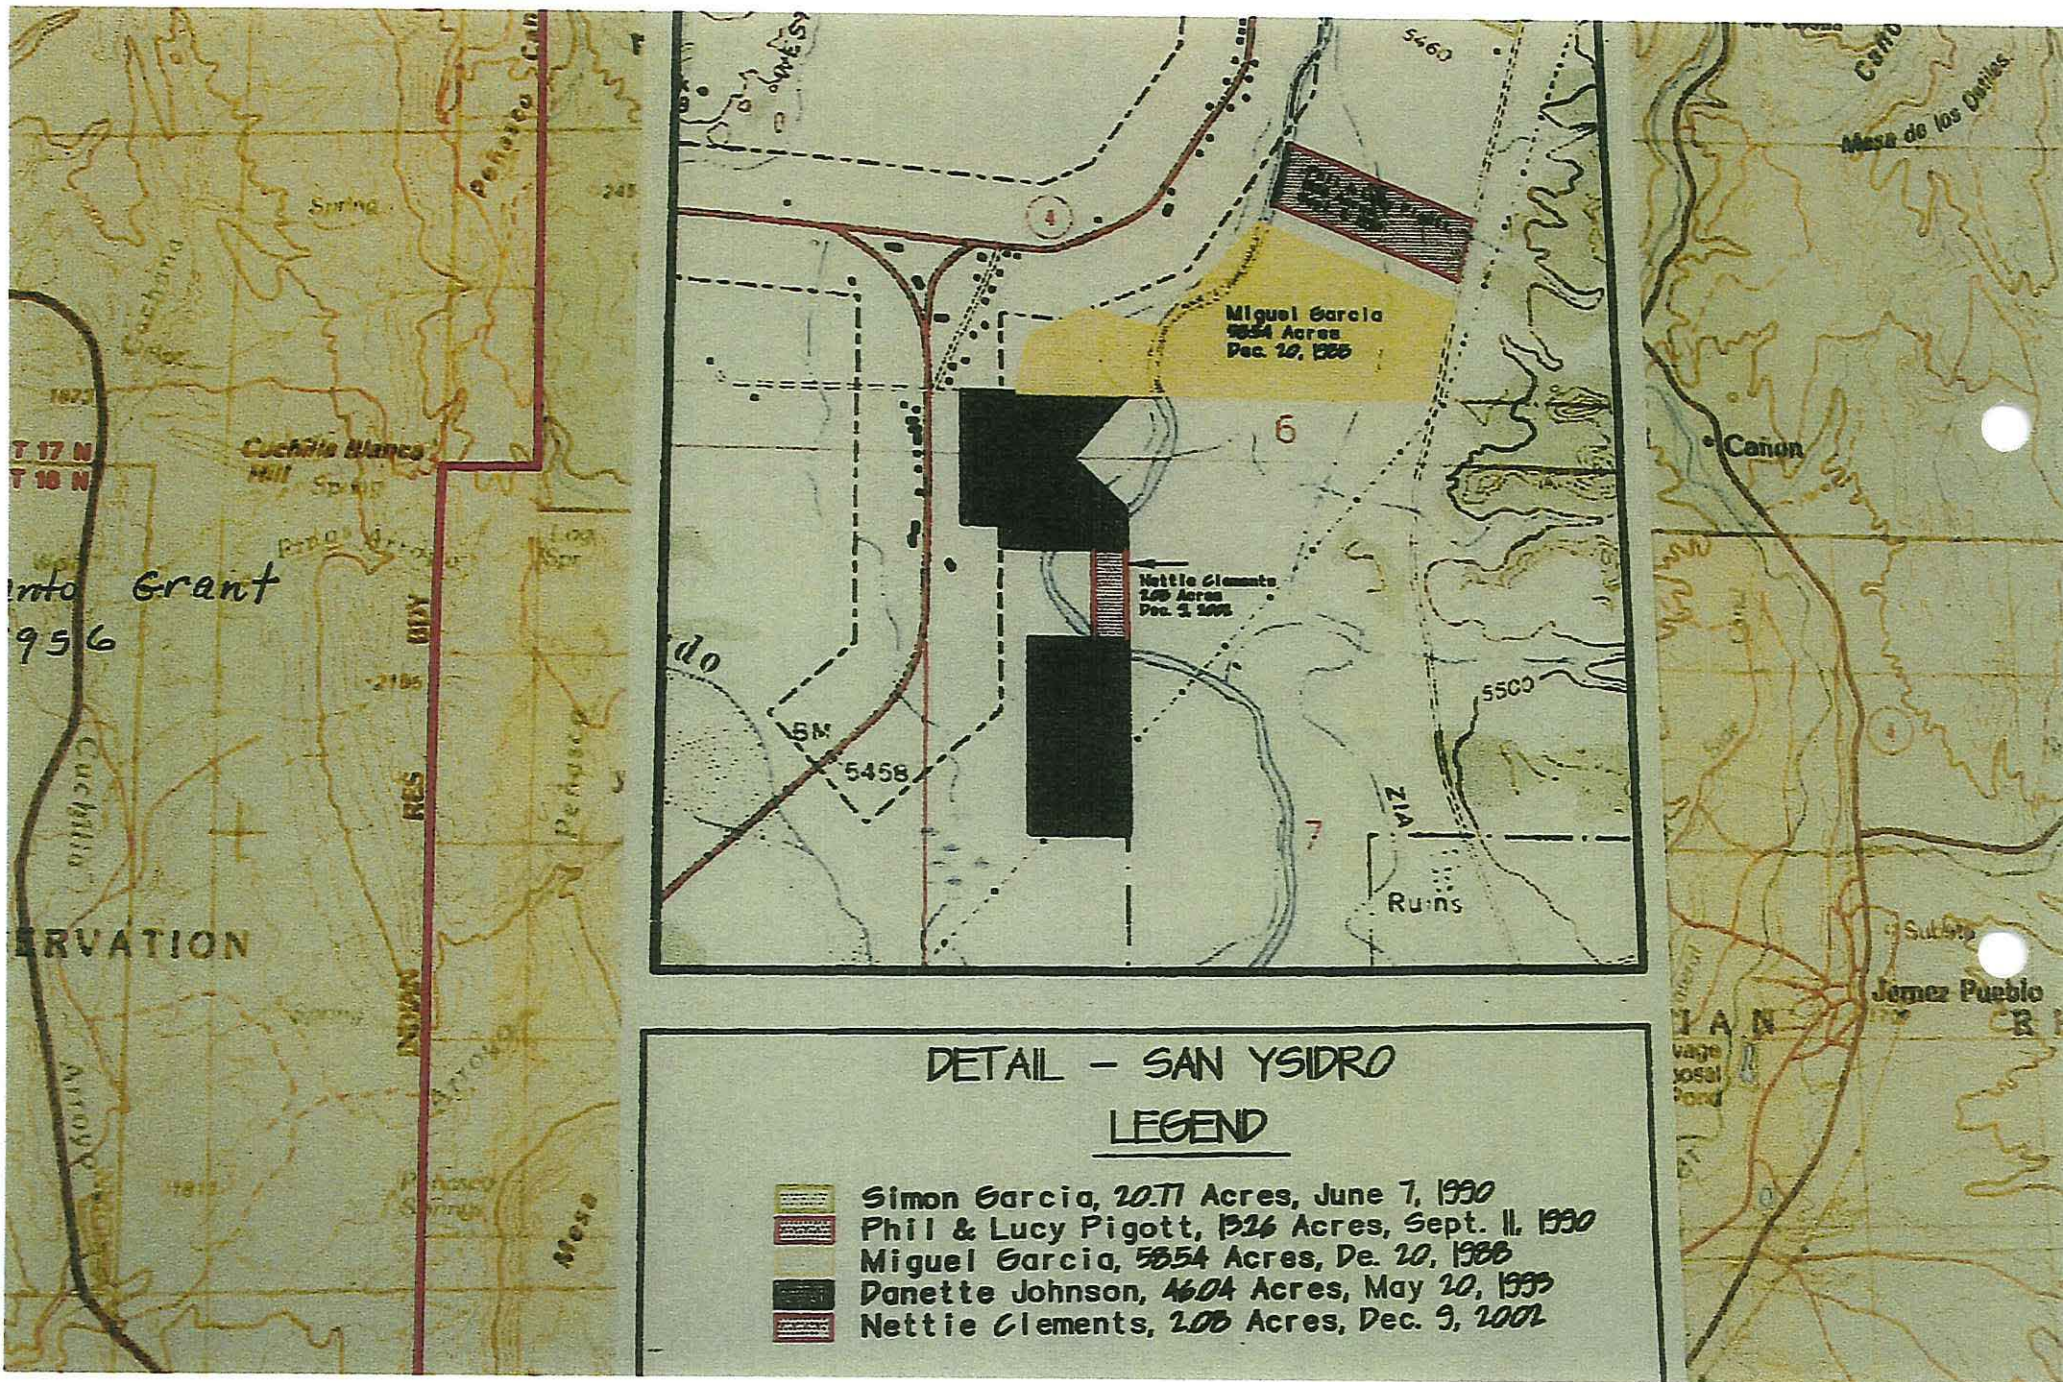

¹ The record is defined in sec. 207.2(f) of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (19 CFR 207.2(f)).

² All six Commissioners voted in the affirmative. The Commission also finds that imports subject to Commerce's affirmative critical circumstances determinations are not likely to undermine seriously the remedial effect of the countervailing and antidumping duty orders on PET resin from India.
