Hanging up “No Idle Zone” Signs

- “No Idle Zone” signs can be purchased by schools for about $35 each. Schools are responsible for purchasing the signs.
- Here are two examples of signs, or schools can create their own. The JPGs for both of these signs are in the Toolkit.

- ‘No Idling’ signs should be placed anywhere on the school campus where parents pick up and drop off students, where school buses congregate, where trucks might idle their trucks during deliveries, where school buses congregate, and in all parking lots.
- Multiple signs should be placed to ensure drivers waiting all around the school and in the school neighborhood can see them.
