Most heat and energy are absorbed by the Earth, crops, and people. Some heat is absorbed by the atmosphere. Heat and light energy from the sun are absorbed by the Earth's surface.