Proposed 2022 Financial Capability Assessment (FCA) Guidance Webinar

Monday, March 14th, 2022
1:00–2:00 PM ET

EPA is hosting a webinar on March 14, 2022 to provide an overview of its proposed 2022 Financial Capability Assessment (FCA) Guidance. The proposed guidance outlines strategies for communities to support affordable utility rates while planning investments in water infrastructure that are essential for Clean Water Act (CWA) implementation. The proposed guidance would also be used to assist states and authorized tribes in assessing the degree of economic and social impact of potential water quality standards decisions for public entities. The FCA Guidance is used by municipalities and EPA when negotiating reasonable and effective schedules for CWA implementation. The Proposed 2022 FCA Guidance describes the financial information and formulas the agency intends to use to assess the financial resources a community has available to implement control measures and timeframes associated with implementation. EPA is accepting public comment until April 25, 2022 via the Federal eRulemaking portal at Docket ID No. EPAHQ-2020-0426-0070.
