Subject: Re: Is the roof safe?

Dear Shorewood,

We've reported ceiling/roof issues to you a number of times and there's been no resolution. I've even provided pictures of the roof which may be getting pushed by water towards us (with roughly 8 lbs of weight per Gallon of water) - we've still not had any feedback from you.

I've taken pictures as of last Thursday night 12/3/2015 - (even though you had come to our unit over a month ago to review the leaked roof) and your office has not even bothered to reach out to us. I've taken the extra step of even writing this issue on my rent check's memo section - still no one from Shorewood has contacted me.

Just to let you know, these are pre-WWII buildings meaning they have LEAD and ASBESTOS currently being ATOMIZED and is in our air due to the rain and the ceiling bulging towards us. Your office's lack of any willingness to address this issue over the past number of months has directly resulted in us breathing atomized air that's full of carcinogens. I wanted to let you know this as this is an ongoing issue and your office has done nothing to help us in this regard.

Any health consequences impacting our respiratory tract or cancer causing agents getting in our system would be a direct result of your negligence which has continued over since our apartment had flooded, the water quality issues left unresolved and the ceiling issue still remains unresolved.

Subject: Is the roof safe?

Hello:

We had reported that our roof was leaking (2nd time this year). It does not leak right now but want to make sure that it is still safe to live in our unit. We have noticed our ceiling is not flat and has been showing signs of something pressing from the roof and just want to confirm that it is structurally safe to live in our unit until we leave on the 15th of Dec.

The lines you see are not due to camera lighting/flash but actual imprints from the material in the ceiling. It's of a concern to us and we're not sure if this is normal or is it even safe given all the rain we've been having?

I've attached a few pictures so please confirm. We had also shown this to you on the last visit.

Thx
