

FRAUD ALERT

EPA NOTICE OF VIOLATION SCAM

In this phishing scam, a fraudster sends a falsified EPA Notice of Violation letter to a target business and requests that the business respond by phone or email.

The U.S. EPA Office of Inspector General is issuing a fraud alert to highlight this increasingly common scam.

LEARN MORE

IDENTIFY

Learn how to identify a falsified Notice of Violation letter.

CONTACT

Learn who to contact if you suspect you received a fraudulent Notice of Violation letter.

EPA OIG HOTLINE

Report fraud involving the EPA to the EPA OIG Hotline by completing the online complaint form, emailing OIG.Hotline@epa.gov, or calling (888) 546-8740.

JULY 2024