Dear interested party:

The purpose of this letter is to express Trident Seafoods support for the development of the Makushin Geothermal Project in Unalaska, Alaska.

Trident has recently acquired property in Unalaska and is in the process of its development. A key factor in the decision to move significant operations to Unalaska is the prospect of purchasing renewable (green) geothermal energy and obviating the need to self-generate power with diesel fired generators.

Trident's core value embrace its responsibility to maintain safe and sustainable fisheries and seafood products and help keep communities that depend on them thriving. Improving energy efficiency and shifting away our dependence from fossil fuels to sustainable, renewable energy, will help us provide (1) a global source of protein that is carbon negative and climate positive, and (2) a central role, as a large geothermal energy off taker, to assist with Unalaska economic, food, and ecological sustainability.

Trident's power requirements are estimated at approximately 15MW of power per year. It is our understanding the Makushin Geothermal Project and the City of Unalaska are working to expand the city power distribution grid to our location and would provide metered geothermal electrical energy for hook up. We have discussed some preliminary pricing of that energy and are poised to be a committed customer.

It is our request, the Makushin Geothermal Project financing entities evaluate the project in a comprehensive and fair matter. It is our belief that the Makushin Geothermal Project would fundamentally improve the quality of life and opportunities in Unalaska, and the entire Aleutian region, while amplifying the sustainability story of abundant Bering Sea fisheries in global markets.

Sincerely,

Stefanie Moreland
